#3: Principle of The Spoken Word, so closely entwined with the Principle of Thought!

Did you know? Our HEART is considered a viable display of 'Sabbath?' The average heart pulsates at 75 beats per minute. By the time it reaches age 50, it will have 'rested' 30 years, through its 'beat, stop, beat, stop' pattern. Yep, God of Wonders dvd. Did you check it out, yet, trivia buffs? And no, I have not been solicited to advertise it; I just found it and love it - so will you!

Now, so setting the atmosphere of comprehension for the Principle of the Spoken Word, I want to explain a bit more on why I choose to share the Principles most exclusively, and of their vital place in our lives.

Do you remember we talked about the 'gales of circumstances' and how they tend to come at us in short blasts incessantly, once we commit to changing our thoughts? For me, before I understood the truth of those words, I had the constant feeling of being 'unsettled.' I knew enough of the Principles by then to live my life properly and advance confidently in most areas of my life; I knew how to live harmlessly and kept in the practice of it - for it was not yet perfected, but greatly improved; and I knew my potential as a business person. Knowing money is a necessity as a means of progress on this globe, I targeted the building of my business vision and strove to put into living example the knowledge and wisdom now at my beck and call, through the Principles. Before I leave THIS lifetime, I wanted greatly to leave that legacy for all humanity, not just my children and grandchildren. Yet, 'gales of circumstances' did indeed bombard me one after another and seemed to be trying to thwart that goal.

That was the desire of my heart, written in my diary five years ago. I recognize, now, that the priority was NOT the bringing to fruition the vision, but was instead the Intent of perfecting my soul through the details - seen and unseen - through the living out of those circumstances. More urgent, indeed, was the awakening of my innate possibilities, through which the 'success, even as my soul prospers' Principle unfolds.

It was of no matter that my ultimate goals, in the working out of the vision's steps, were intended to stimulate humanity into remembering their own 'innate possibilities;' while the plan appeared quite noble, it was as child's play in comparison to the 'ultimate goal' of GOD'S vision. To THAT goal, I realized, I must embrace the gales of circumstances with childlike glee! "The journey's the thing!" my soul perpetually reminds me. That was my experience five years ago, and it is still true today . . . and that is why I ENJOY the 'walk through the fire' in PROVING the Principles . . . so I can speak, with authority, their validity. It is the listener's personal responsibility of letting their own soul guide in confirmation . . . or perhaps even in just the great possibility of the TRUTHS of the Principles of which I share.

What I speak on these shows are my personal experiences put to words in the hope of easing the 'right-living way' for another. If I reach one, and they reach one; if each one would reach one, perhaps all humanity would finally learn and respect the Principles of God and we could enjoy the WORLD's journey of evolution!

Ageless Wisdom teaches: 'What treasures a pure, free, and dauntless consciousness can give to humanity! But the inertia of habit holds the inexperienced one in fetters. Yet, for the one sincerely on the path to 'right living' - when you meet a foe too great for you, behold, the son of man is at your door, and he can speak, and all the hosts of heaven will stand in your defense.' When one determines to uphold the Principles of God, the entire universe comes to that one's defense, in each and every moment. Strive to become confident of that Truth; there is no need any longer, to walk the Path with bated breath!

One may notice to what an extent spiritually-aspiring people, even under the most unfavorable conditions, find strength to discover the Light. Such light-bearers are watched over and are able to overcome the most incredible difficulties. The Principle has been sent; the Path has been indicated; let him who seeks find.

He who follows the Principles Teachings loses the passivity so cherished by people. But he who does not follow receives the full downpour of karma, that is 'you reap what you sow.' Judge for yourselves who has chosen the right path. When you follow the Principles, can there be failure? The Principles bring refinement of consciousness as a great happiness. Where, then, to find a power equal to that which results from obedience to the Principles? Aspire to follow the Principles Teachings with great diligence.

When one breaks the Principles of God, more surely even than as results the breaking of any man-made principles, there is no limit to the chaos which must ensue . . . if not immediately, eventually, and most often without warning. It also keeps that one in darkness, revolving continuously on the wheel of misery and want; which is why I so desire to share my findings with those whose soul was also tapped for more understanding.

To be able to clearly explain why the spoken word is so valuable, even though inhibited slightly more than the all-powerful Thought, I must try to explain about the manifesting substance in which it abides and has no choice but to utilize as its power. Indeed, it is the very substance which permeates all in existence, into infinity; else, we would see the borders of such a phenomenon. The 'substance' is called by many names, as is our Lord, yet my favorite title would be AKASA.

Have you seen those glittering particles in the sun's rays, streaming through the window or tree, and thought them dust? Have you ever wondered how our lungs and noses could abide breathing such dust for an hour, a day, a lifetime, without our perishing from it? Do yourself this favor: Next time you see a ray of sunshine, pay attention to the 'dust' you see floating in it. Then, pay close attention to it, for perhaps your soul is ready to see the subtle world of the Divine; you will see that the crystal 'dust' is not just in the ray of light, but permeates everything – literally, EVERYTHING! Yet, not all can see them, have you noticed? They are the substance and elements of the subtle world and only those of a higher consciousness may observe, whether they are living the Principles cognitively yet or not. That 'dust' – let your soul confirm – is the manifesting substance of God, used for everything in existence into infinity; it is the substance which upholds the entire cosmos. Then, you will recognize that the 'omnipresent dust' - is God Himself! I love to contemplate on His omnipresence, allowing Him to experience the tree, the bird, the human, the planet, the ocean, the cloud, the star, indeed every existing thing, all at the same time! We inhale God!! Thus - COMPREHEND THIS! - we cannot be separated from Him. I have to tell you here, that I have experienced that feeling of being separated from God, and indeed, that is the very essence of the agony when not embracing – by choice – His Principles; I was never truly separated, for we cannot be, except in our minds and illusions AS part of the Principle and its natural consequences.

It is written: "The essence of the unmanifested spirit permeates the substance – AKASA - of space. The spheres of the elements are of dazzling beauty, and besmirching them is like destroying a wonderful flower. The sower of thought gathers the harvest. The consciousness of space permeates the brain substance. This process cannot be demonstrated; it cannot be measured." AKASA permeates all.

It is my belief that with an understanding of the above statements, by those great ones who speak with authority, it stands that 'we are gods'*1 (as it says in Psalms 82:6 kjv ) by the very fact that our bodies and minds and all the illusions of earth and the cosmos, are of the same substance. As we embrace this knowledge, we are able to manipulate - without hypnotism or mysticism - the substance, even to the 'washing' of our minds of the thoughts we no longer wish to battle. Habits are changed, wrong beliefs are vanished, illnesses are cured, and poverty becomes estranged from the human race.

'WASH YOUR MIND?' you say? Well, let me explain: You WASH YOUR MIND simply by splashing the surrounding granules (Akasa/divine crystal dust) over your face and head as you would with water on a hot day, though your form does not inhibit the cleansing flow of THIS substance. You are using the very same elements to 'wash' with as that which makes up your body. Picture that which you want removed and let the divine dust wash out those thoughts, behaviors, and doubts as it replaces with NEW substance and healing. Be ever diligent to keep the mind renewed with pure and worthy knowledge. EXPECT results and keep alert for subtle changes which may be steps to the execution of your action. Be cautious to not reject them – and remember: DO NOT imprison your answer to prayer!

It is written: “The Akasa is not merely one element among others; it is a fundamental element, the ultimately REAL dimension of the cosmos. It is what in its subtle (divine) aspect underlies all things and in its gross (physical) aspect becomes all things . . .” as we fuel the manifesting crystals with our benevolent - or our thoughtless - words. Contemplation of this element’s presence throughout this planet and the cosmos, as much as we are able to attend, will strengthen the soul’s aim in this, your ‘soul perfection process.’

Now, this brings me to the Principle of the Spoken Word, while it is still so closely intertwined with the Principle of THOUGHT:

We have read that ‘God’ even hears when the tiny sparrow falls. It confirms my profound belief that the words we speak and the thoughts we think are carried upon those permeating crystals as abruptly as a match to kerosene, instantly pervading all infinity with their blessing or refuse. (Ponder on that statement.) Likewise, are our prayers sent into the creating substance, manifesting through the very existence of each crystal - that universal and perpetual storehouse of creation. Gratefully, upon recognition of this Principle, and in effort to change lowly behaviors, those true to the Teaching of the Principles are made aware that, even as instantaneous as is that action of a match to kerosene, the positive and worthy thought is even more powerful and quick, able to cancel the wicked word or thought when the desire to do so is sent out. (Catch the importance of that statement - if you have ever felt the hounds of hell breathing hot down your neck, for the regret of words spoken in haste!) Recognize the power, therefore, of united mantrams – those are ‘specific prayers’ – and their cancelling effect on multitudes and eons of thought refuse which has been inhibiting humanity’s evolution. We MUST recognize and embrace the PRINCIPLES of both THOUGHT AND WORD RESPONSIBILITY! Most especially, be aware of the power of words on children: One hour of quality talk can change a child’s life forever.

To ‘live in the Principles of God’ is to:

RECOGNIZE YOU ARE – AND LIVE AS – ONE WITH GOD. On ‘being One with God,’ does it help to remind you that we are ALL ‘sons of God’<sup>1</sup> – as in Father, ‘SON,’ and Holy Spirit (the Universal Mother)? AS that member of the family, it IS inherent in us to ‘be therefore perfect.’ As in any ROYAL FAMILY such as this, there are the obedient and the disobedient. Yet, all are loved and provided resources (Principles) equally. What they choose to do with them is THEIR ‘free will.’

To LIVE as that soul, One with God, we must be diligent to practice specific directives. (Yes, more homework – rather ‘soulwork!’) LOL Got your pen and paper? It will also be in the transcript you’ll find on my website AmiritaNicoleMarketing.com. The directives are as follows:

1. Ban self-centeredness
2. Take no credit
3. Meditate the good for others first
4. Overcome fear of lack of anything (That THERE’S a biggy! LOL)
5. See others as souls in the perfection process; that means:
  - Be sensitive and strive always to be aware of others spirits and needs
  - Live harmlessly, in words, thoughts, deeds, and actions/reactions:
    - Remember we are each an ‘opportunity liaison’ and it is a reciprocal process, led by the Principle of ‘do unto others . . .’
    - We must strive not to miss any opportunity to assist another on their sojourn, lest we have to wait for another AGE – 2500 years – to repair.
    - Set up today in words, thoughts, and deeds – for others first – what you’d have for tomorrow

One specific directive I have yet to master is that of stating responses, to those who struggle with gossip or negativity, which will cause them to respond back with POSITIVE words into their own lives, without seeming manipulative or coercive. Sometimes I just give up trying, for some are extremely impregnated with the insistence of chaos and drama in their lives, and flat out tell them to ‘Stop! Let’s change those nasty words coming out of your mouth, they are destroying your beautiful life!’ And then, alas for them, LOL, I get on the bandwagon! LOL I really try not to do that, for later I feel I was insensitive to their need. But . . . oh well, we can only keep trying, right? And that’s what matters . . . and eventually, because the intention was pure, that one will eventually come to see how much we cared and maybe the vital planted seed will grow.

The other reason for stopping such a speaker of damaging words is for the sake of all mankind, for, remember, those words fly into the cosmos wreaking havoc among the energies which rule our planet and humanity. In allowing the verbal flow of decay to continue, thinking it a kindness in ‘offering a sympathetic ear,’ it makes us instead an accomplice. Practice simply excusing yourself kindly, wishing them the best, and removing yourself from the snare. As you do so, remember to send out a prayer for that one who has yet to be freed, and who is ONE with us all.

No sound is ever made without producing a corresponding response in the cosmos and the manifesting substance, thereby constructing a form of benevolence or malevolence, according to the intent or motive of the speaker. The basis of all manifested phenomena is the spoken word, with the full purpose of the will behind it. The soul on the path to 'right-living' MUST control his speech every minute of the day! This refers not to reticence or silence, but rather to the controlled use of words to effect certain ends AND the retention of speech when not needed.

Because words clothe Thoughts, thereby limiting the entirety of a Thought or idea - and in our present mental incapacity to comprehend - there can never be an entire truth in the spoken or written word. Only when telepathic communication supersedes speech and writing will the plan and technique of its expression be grasped in clearer and precise interpretation. Until then, it is impossible to put the divine ideas into their ideal form, and then bring them down into the world of meaning, and from there into the world of symbols, i.e., spoken or written words.

Words of extreme power are those of criticism, worry, and irritation. Because in a sudden burst of critical thought, the entire personality is galvanized (cemented) into a potent co-ordination of a wrong kind and with disastrous results. This means the entire body, head to toe, and every cell, comes into perfect agreement with the attitude set up by that thinker and makes it nearly impossible not to SPEAK the harmful words that will greatly harm the one being criticized AND render the speaker permeable for any illness to affect any weakness in their body. Because criticism, being a faculty of the lower mind, can hurt and wound, no man can proceed upon the Path of 'right living' as long as wounds are made and pain is knowingly given.

The most common of all causes are worry and irritation! They are more prevalent now because of the world situation as such, the problems and uncertainty; scarcely a person is exempt. The intercommunication between people at this time – not just through the spoken word - has increased so much and people live in massed groups, large and small, that it is inevitable that they produce an effect upon each other as never before. "If one member suffers, all the members suffer with it" is a statement of truth; ancient, but new in application and realized more today than any other time in Ages past.

We have become so 'tuned in' to each other's emotional conditions and mental attitudes, in a new and more potent manner. Consider the antagonistic resources such as news channels and reality shows. To our own engrossing concerns and worries, are added those of our fellowmen with whom we may be en rapport. It brings about the previsions and self-inflicted concerns for what MIGHT be, and yet without the mass influence of other's thoughts and words, would NEVER be, in that worried one's life.

Irritation, of itself, is inflammatory and hard to bear and leads to much difficulty; the trait of irritation has been found to cause certain forms of eye trouble. Because worry and irritation prevent TRUE vision, in the spiritual sense, the one who is victim to these conditions sees nothing but the cause of his complaints and is so submerged through self-pity, self-consideration, or in a focused negative condition, that his vision and spiritual progress is narrowed, affecting all in his circles. There is little one can do when tests and deep distress and anxiety overwhelm, except to stand by in love, send healing thoughts and invoke their inner strength to repair and usefulness once again.

I want to encourage you to check out dLee's beautiful Inspirational Photo Gems on her website EssenceOfAuthenticPresence.com – an immediate sanctuary in itself! And my spiritual greeting cards, Keeper Collection Gift Cards, on SpiritWinePub.com. They are created for display and collecting, while providing perpetual inspiration. I also spoke at the beginning of today's show of my book Giggles 'n God. It was written earlier on my spiritual walk but it amazes me that the precepts which were brought to me at that time, through devotions, were as baby-steps for me, leading me to the more profound versions in the Ageless Wisdom studies, through meditations. It is as Jesus came as Christ and taught in parables – the 'baby-steps' humanity needed at that time of evolution. It is available on my bookstore Spirit Wine Publications at SpiritWinePub.com. Many of the poems on the greeting cards you see on AmritaNicoleMarketing.com, with the transcripts and audios of the shows, come from this book.

I'm so happy you have joined us today on this sojourn of Mighty Spectrums, on Voice America! Please feel free to email comments or questions to:
